

Entrepreneur in Residence (m/f/d)

(full time, as of now)

With eatclever you can expect a dynamic team with a love for food. We have set ourselves the goal of revolutionizing fast food and making feelgood food easily accessible to everyone: Delicious, refined dishes for everyone who want to achieve increased mental and physical performance at work and in their free time.

For our expansions into further European countries, we are looking for an Entrepreneur in Residence (m/f/d) to support us full-time with immediate effect.

Your tasks

- In the position as Entrepreneur in Residence (m/f/d), you coordinate new projects and markets in cooperation with our management.
- You take over the (partial) management and implementation of national or international projects.
- You analyse customer needs, customer behaviour and markets.
- You develop and create decision-making bases for the management.
- You also work on the further development of our business processes using data-based analyses.

Your profile

For your job you need the following points in particular:

- Several years of experience in a comparable position are an advantage.
- Experience in the catering industry is a plus.
- You have an excellent command of written and spoken German and English. Other foreign languages are an advantage.
- You are confident in correspondence and conversation with national and international contacts.
- You are open, professional and target group-specific in your dealings with potential partners.
- You have a class B driving licence.
- You also have a very high willingness to travel.

In addition, we expect the following qualities from you:

- You have a hands on mentality and no challenge is too big for you.
- You are solution-oriented.
- You are highly motivated, very committed and want to push things forward.
- You work in a structured and conscientious manner at all times.
- You like to work independently.

- You have no difficulty working alone or in a team.
- You enjoy a young and dynamic working environment that gives you the freedom to develop and grow.

What we offer

- Our office is centrally located in the Speicherstadt, but your place of residence is flexible!
- Your working hours are flexible.
- You have the opportunity to take responsibility for exciting tasks.
- You can play a significant role in the expansion of Germany's healthy delivery service and take it to the world.
- Due to the direct cooperation with the management, our decision-making processes are fast and the communication channels are short.
- We are open to new ideas, innovations and suggestions.
- We offer you intensive and detailed feedback meetings, employee benefits and regular team events.
- Your salary consists of a fixed and a performance-related component.

By the way, my name is Jill. If you have any questions, please feel free to ask me by email. If you want to apply directly, your application should contain the following documents in pdf format: CV; short, informative letter explaining why we are a good match; relevant references.
